

The 2017 LNCQ Fall Quilt Camp took place October 2nd – 5th at the Highlands Presbyterian Camp & Retreat Center in Allenspark, Colorado. A good time was had by all in attendance!

Here is what one camper had to say about her experience:

FALL QUILT RETREAT

This was my first Quilt Retreat with LNCQ and I am so glad I was able to attend. It was an informative creative experience and most of all FUN.

Since I am a relatively new member to LNCQ I was able to get to know (on a more personal level) many of the members. They were all gracious and welcoming to this newbie.

Not only did we quilt-quilt-quilt but we were also entertained by a visit from Papa, Mama, and baby moose. We just had to look out the window to see them and take pictures. Many members had never seen moose before so this was a real treat for them.

We were greeted at Highlands Presbyterian Camp in Allenspark by an inch or two of beautiful white snow, which melted the next day. It made the view of the surrounding mountains quite beautiful.

The three meals that were provided each day by the camp were extraordinary, and the camp employees were extremely friendly and helpful.

I understand that there will be a repeat of this event next October, don't walk but run to get yourself signed up for the event as soon as registration opens.

I believe others who attended would echo Joan's sentiments!
